Planners Seize Bond To Finish Drainage Work At Development

By Lewis C. Howe

The Planning Board voted Tuesday night to seize a $14,300 Subdivision Performance Guarantee bond from developer Arthur Kalogianis and use the town funds to complete unfinished storm drainage work for Kalogianis' Olympic Village II subdivision project.

The town told Kalogianis last summer he must address "certain drainage problems" at the site in order to avoid defaulting on the bond. The developer had collected $34,449 from the town for work previously completed. That money is frozen in litigation against Kalogianis by the Colangeli family of 1 Acropolis Drive, in an unrelated court action.

Barbara Colangeli spoke at the Planning Board's hearing on Olympic Village II, saying insufficient drainage from the subdivision lot was causing water problems on Acropolis Circle. "If this isn't fixed by the wintertime," Colangeli charged, "little kids will be walking on sheets of ice."

Steve Colyer, town physical planner, had sent a letter to the developer dated August 12 outlining what steps needed to be taken to ensure Kalogianis would collect his performance bond. The necessary alterations include a new storm drain near the Colangelis' home at 1 Acropolis Circle, installation of "cascade grates" along the road, and installation of new catch basins on Doric Way.

Colyer's letter to Kalogianis stated "should you fail to comply with the Board's directive, a public hearing will be held on October 13, 1987 and the remaining $14,300 will be secured by the town to complete the work."

Kalogianis notified Colyer on September 22 he would be "out of town" and unable to attend the public hearing. He asked that the "matter be postponed."

When the issue arose on Tuesday, Colyer recommended the board move to seize the bond and complete the work. "We've given the developer enough of a chance" he said.

Michael Houghton, board chairman, agreed, saying Kalogianis had indicated "it could be spring" before the work was completed. "He's not going to do anything he hasn't done up until now," Houghton remarked. The chairman then asked the opinion of the board.

Planning Board member Carl Byers commented "we just want to see the work done." Colyer broke in, advising, "you have the money, you can do it, (Kalogianis) isn't going to do it. You could at least get the cascade drains in (before winter)."

Houghton stated "nothing will happen

Houghton Denies League Claim Board Defied Open Meeting Law

By Lewis C. Howe

Planning Board Chairman Michael Houghton has responded forcefully to allegations by the Andover League of Women Voters that the board violated the Open Meeting Law.

Robert J. Bender, Assistant District Attorney for Essex County, informed Houghton last week of a written complaint filed by Jean Salazar, League president, contending subcommittee meetings of the board had met without proper notification of the public.

The law states "all meetings of a governmental body shall be open to the public" and notices for all meetings must be posted at least 48 hours prior to the scheduled meeting time.

In a letter of response dated October 13, Houghton termed the League's charges "unfounded" and "absurd." Houghton enclosed notices for board subcommittee meetings of September 17, 29, 30 and October 5 as evidence.

At Tuesday night's planning board meeting, Houghton reiterated "to my knowledge, and to the (planning) staff's knowledge, no such violations have occurred." The chairman then spoke out against some of the League's members.

"There is a faction of this organization

(the League) which seems to feel that there is a conspiratorial atmosphere in town government," Houghton said. Some League members, he continued, are "adversarial" to the town, and adopt an "us against them" attitude.

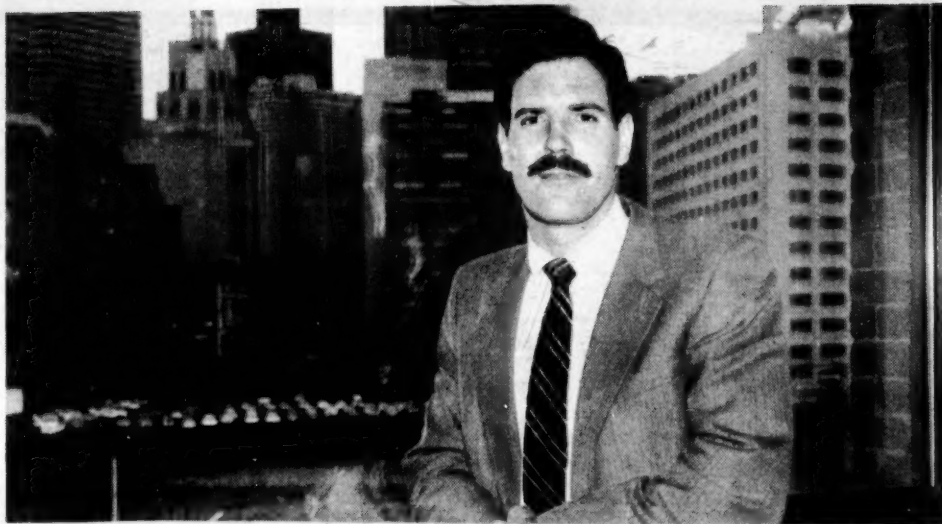

"This attitude is that 'you guys' are doing something 'behind our backs'" remarked Houghton, who noted "we are not elected, we do not receive wages or bonuses." Perhaps, he mused, some residents believe town officials "are in cahoots" with developers. "If someone

Michael J. Meyers

Appointed Finance Officer

Kenneth Brecher, director of The Children's Museum, has announced the appointment of Michael J. Meyers as chief financial officer of the museum. Meyers served most recently as vice president for public finance at ADVEST, Inc., Boston, the nation's largest regional brokerage and investment banking firm. Prior to that, he spent for years as finance director for the House Ways and Means Committee for the Commonwealth and four years as economic analyst for the Massachusetts Joint Committee on Taxation. He has also served as planning director for the Worcester Regional CHINS (Children in Need of Services) Consortium.

"Michael Meyers combines extensive experience in the private sector with an impressive track record in State Government," says Brecher. "He will play an important role in our long-range planning as we celebrate our 75th anniversary in 1988. As the museum's CFO, Meyers is responsible for the entire range of financial responsibilities associated with an annual operating budget in excess of $4.6 million."

For almost 75 years The Children's Museum has been a place for children to learn through direct participation in fun-filled, thought-provoking exhibits. The institution welcomes more than 470,000 visitors each year. An additional 300,000 teachers, community workers, parents and children in more than 500 communities throughout New England are served by the museum's resource center.

The Children's Museum is located on Boston's waterfront, a short walk from Faneuil Hall and South Station.

Meyers holds undergraduate and graduate degrees from Northeastern University and has done post graduate work in economics and research at SUNY, Albany. He is a resident of Andover.

Advanced Life Support Service In Operation

The Lawrence General Advanced Life Support (ALS) Service serving Lawrence, Andover, North Andover, Methuen and Salem, N.H., began operations on Sunday, Sept. 27. It is the first such system in Greater Lawrence.

According to Patricia Sheehan, LGH vice president for patient care services, "The ALS system allows us to bring a more sophisticated level of emergency care to the patient at the site of an accident or emergency. Today, more than 37,000 paramedics provide advanced life support to 52 percent of the population of the United States."

The Lawrence General ALS emergency response vehicle is a white Chevrolet suburban van with red stripe, logo and flashing lights, staffed by specially trained Emergency Medical Technician-Paramedics 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The paramedics are dispatched along with each community's ambulance when an emergency occurs and join the local team of Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) to provide care. Access to the ALS paramedics is controlled by a community's local dispatcher: area residents cannot access the paramedics directly by dialing a telephone number. The paramedics are dispatched based upon criteria developed by LGH emergency physicians.

"The paramedics can initiate treatments in the field, under the radio supervision of an emergency room physician, to stabilize patients before they are brought to the hospital, thus improving the patients' chances of recovery," explains Jose L. Silva, M.D., LGH director of emergency services.

Paramedics have advanced life support knowledge and skills in cardiac monitoring, interpretation of electrocardiographs (EKGs), defibrillation, advanced airway maintenance and medication administration.

EMTs have received training in such basic life support skills as cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), bleeding control techniques, fracture care, treatment of shock, assistance in childbirth and the application of anti-shock garments.

The establishment of the Lawrence General ALS Service was coordinated by Silva and Kevin Prendergast, LGH manager of pre-hospital emergency medical services.

Lawrence General Hospital's emergency departments sees more than 3,000 patients annually. As the designated trauma center for central and eastern Merrimack Valley, the addition of the ALS system complements the full array of emergency and trauma services available at the hospital.

14-Year-Old Blazes Trail Behind Sanborn School

When Craig Der Ananian had to do a project for his Boy Scout Troop to get to Eagle status, he decided to do something the town could enjoy.

"The project that I did...was to design and build trails for the benefit of the science department in Sanborn School as well as the townspeople," the 14-year-old wrote in a description of his project.

So Der Ananian, a member of Boy Scout 77, West Parish Church, Craig Der Ananian fixes up the bridge he built with help from his father, Sam.

spent approximately 150 man-hours blazing trails, building bridges and raking behind Sanborn Elementary in the spring. The mile-and-a-half long trail he blazed was dedicated recently—complete with a sign bearing Der Ananian's name. The sign was donated by Lasco Signs Inc. in Lawrence.

Der Ananian, a West Junior High School student, said the trail "passes through many different types of areas. There is both a climax forest as well as a newly-developing one."

He got a little help from his father and friends from his Boy Scout troop in building two bridges, one 12 feet long, the other almost 25 feet. "They were made from the surrounding woods and blend well into the environment," he said.

According to DerAnanian, Sanborn School is on 20 acres of forest land.

Congregational Club at Lowell.

The Merrimack Valley Congregational Club

held its eight meeting in the First Church

Lowell, last Monday evening. Among the new names proposed for membership were

Prof. M. R. McCurdy, Mr. John W. Bell, Mr.

J. Newton Cole, and Mr. John N. Cole, of Andover. The topic for discussion was

"Hills from Church Work Abroad, for the work of the Church at Home."

Rev. E. H. Makepeace of Andover, just returned from Europe opened the discussion by referring to the history of Christian workship from the days of the Apostles, that study being necessary to understand the present church life of Europe, with its great cathedrals, and solemn struggles.

The speaker had been specially impressed with the richness of devotional worship in the European churches, and also with their deep interest in the temporal welfare of the laitying people, as shown by the prevalence

by which all classes might have free admission to nearly all historic buildings, and great galleries of priceless art.

Rev. Smith Baker dwelt upon the inability of us to purify and elevate the morals of the people. He said that he believed more than ever in pure St. Paul Christianity, and straight gospel, and should preach more of

it. Rev. H. T. Rowe of Lowell remarked that Europe had had plenty of doctrine of the straightest sort, and asked why that had not lifted the people more. Mr. Mc-

Curry of Andover, also just home from a foreign trip, was called up and gave his observations on the Sunday school and weekday services in Europe. Other speakers followed, and the success of the meeting showed the wisdom of making a large use of home talent.

Firemen's Muster.

The Fire department have completed the arrangements for their muster to be held in town on the 21st and announce the following program for the day's enjoyment:

The parade will be in charge of Chief

Marshall Geo. W. Chandler and his aids,

A. McTernan, S. D. Mayo, Wm. Green and

O. E. Chase. The line will be formed in the divisions: the first division on High

St., right, resting on Elm square; the second division on Elm St. The signal for the parade will be given at the fire bell at 10 o'clock, and the following route will be followed by the procession:

Through Elm square to Central St., to School to Main, to Town Hall, where the proceeding will be reviewed by the Town officers. After the review the march will be

Many Happy Returns

The TOWNSMAN's Centennial

Happy birthday to us.

The Andover TOWNSMAN turned 100 yesterday. Not bad when you consider it started from scratch—cooked up inside the head of John N. Cole, a short, fiery Yankee who spared no feelings to get his points across.

Cole enlisted the aid—mostly financial—of a group of Andover and North Andover luminaries to help buy Warren F. Draper's Andover Press, on the corner of Chestnut and Main streets, where Pioneer Financial Cooperative Bank stands now. If you're observant, you can see the words "Andover Press" engraved on the second story.

An advertisement for the paper Cole's new enterprise produced read like this: "Marriages. In Andover, October 1887, by Rev. Popular Approval, Mr. General Public of Andover and vicinity, and Miss Andover Townsman, only daughter of the Andover Press. Among the wedding gifts were many subscriptions and some handsome advertising contracts."

Cole said he wanted to create a newspaper that would "more worthily represent the best interests of the town." It wasn't only the interests of the town Cole promoted through the TOWNSMAN.

Politically strong-minded, Cole used the paper to support his career as speaker of the state House of Representatives and Calvin Coolidge's presidential campaign. He might have gone on to be lieutenant governor, but his strong character made enemies fast.

"I have seen him on the floor of the Andover Town Meeting," Claude Fuess, who taught at Phillips Academy, wrote in 1940, "untangle a parliamentary snarl so that even his bitterest opponents—and he had many—were moved to grudging admiration."

Cole ran The TOWNSMAN, like his meetings, with tight reins. He himself succeeded the first editor, the Rev. Charles C. Carpenter, "was too much of a cloistered scholar for such a practical enterprise," according to one writer. Apparently, Cole's tight-fisted management worked. The paper thrived until his death in 1922.

The very first Andover TOWNSMAN was 12 by 16 1/2 inches, a little bigger than it is now, but it was only eight pages. It came out on Fridays and cost 5 cents, a little cheaper than it is now. A year's subscription was $2.

"The most natural way of introducing a stranger is to announce his name," the first editorial said. "The name of the new paper, to some extent at least, indicates its character and aim."

"It will aim to carry every week into the families which receive it eight crowded pages of reading, including full local news from Andover and vicinity...without, we trust, a single paragraph or line which will render the paper unfit, as was said in its preliminary circular, to be 'safely admitted into our families and placed in the hands of our children.'"

Cole pretty much stuck to his promise for the next 35 years. It was an age when details counted ("Mrs.

David Gray, Chestnut Street, over eighty years old, fell on her way to church last Sabbath, and put her shoulder out of joint.") and when prices were lower (as at the 31 Main Street store that sold suits for $7-$25) and when the "who, what, when, where, how" wasn't always at the tops of articles.

But Cole had his paper on its feet—and running.

"It took off," said Betty Cole of Farnsworth Road, wife of Cole's grandson John N. II. "And it's continued to this day."

The years after his death, however, proved bad ones for the paper. Andover Press' only daughter was getting too heavy to carry. It was cut to four pages in 1932, and advertising rates were increased in a last-ditch effort to save the foundering paper.

Six years later, the TOWNSMAN was sold to its editor, Elmer Grover. Smith and Coutts had been printing the paper for the previous three years, and the company became the Townsman Press Inc. after Grover bought the controlling interest.

The paper was sold again, in 1949, to Irving Rogers, Sr. The Rogers family, which publishes The

'Andover Deserves And Needs A Newspaper Of Its Own'

Following is The Andover TOWNSMAN's first editorial, which appeared in volume one, number one of the paper—Oct. 14, 1887. It was probably written by John N. Cole, who founded the paper and was its second editor. Although he used The TOWNSMAN to advance his political career, Cole provided a resource for Andover news, which residents had to glean from out-of-town papers in years previous.

The most natural way of introducing a stranger is to announce his name. The name of the new paper, to some extent at least, indicates its character and aim. TOWNSMAN may sound a little odd at first; but is it not all the better for not being the same as a hundred other newspaper names in the country? It is a good old Anglo-Saxon word, with a meaning: it magnifies what Phillips Brooks has called "that excellent institution, a New England town"—the unit not only of social, intellectual, and moral life in a community, but of our republican system of government.

The town of Andover, with its history, its institutions, its extent, its population, its prosperity, its wealth, its business, deserves and needs a newspaper of its own. The ANDOVER TOWNSMAN is intended to supply the need. It is owned in Andover; it is printed in Andover; it is mailed in Andover; its editor, its business manager, its foreman, its pressman, its compositors, are all from Andover. It will be devoted to the interests of Andover, and its circulation be largely among the inhabitants of Andover, or those who have been such in the past. And when we say Andover, we mean the Old Andover—North Parish, South Parish, West Parish, and Ballardvale as well,—hoping, even in the first-named, to represent and report, so far as we can, its separate but not rival industries and interests.

What kind of a paper is the ANDOVER TOWNSMAN to be? Not a theological journal, although Andover has the oldest theological seminary in the country, and has always been celebrated for its discussions in that line—and still maintains its reputation. Let others define and defend theological theories, and dispute about them if they will—we will not. It is not a religious journal, although Andover has always been a staunch religious town, from the times of John Woodbridge and Samuel Phillips even to this day. It is not an educational journal, although Andover has been the synonym for the best style of education for more than a century. It is not a political journal, in the partisan sense, although claiming the right to make its comment or criticism on public affairs and those who administer them. In short, it is not a paper under the control or in the interest of any party or sect or clique.

It is the TOWNSMAN, standing for all the interests of the town, striving to help forward, so far as it may, the social and business welfare of the town, and proving itself, we hope, the ally in its own way of the best moral sentiment and most useful Christian work. It will aim to carry every week into the families which receive it eight crowded pages of reading, including full local news from Andover and vicinity, a summary of general intelligence, business announcements, original contributions from Andover pens, and a carefully selected miscellany suited for instruction and entertainment—without, we trust, a single paragraph or line which will render the paper unfit, as was said in its preliminary circular, to be "safely admitted into our families and placed in the hands of our children."

It may not be considered impertinent if we modestly suggest a few ways, in which our fellow-townsmen can easily afford us substantial assistance in starting and keeping up this publication. First, of course, subscribe to the TOWNSMAN! Then, remind your neighbor to go and do likewise—instead of offering to lend him you copy, as in most other cases would be a very proper and neighborly thing to do. Lend specimen copies to your old Andover friends now living elsewhere, or leave their addresses at the office, and copies will be mailed to them direct. We scarcely need urge the advantage—to you and to us—of advertising, for with very few exceptions all businessmen in town who have been solicited have promptly responded. We shall be very glad to receive items of local news from any part of the town or neighboring towns, if handed in promptly, or sent by mail over the sender's signature. Letters from our readers on any subjects of current interest, if brief, to the point, and accompanied by the author's name, will be welcomed. Especially would we invite contributions to the special departments on the inside pages—the Farmers' Column, Housekeepers' Column and Auld Lang-syne. The children have their invitation on the second page, in the corner!

John N. Cole I

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

The role of the mother is assumed to be central to the child's personality growth. However, this does not mean that the father does not play an important role in the child's life during the first months after birth. He exerts a great deal of influence on the child's environment. His attitude is reflected from mother to child. If the father is supportive and cooperative, the child will benefit for many reasons. The father who participates in his child's day-to-day routine, will exert tremendous influence on his son's or daughter's world. Men are finding their place in the family, and families are benefitting tremendously as a result.

Earnings Increase At Raytheon

Raytheon Company reported a 12.9 percent increase in earnings and a 19.8 percent increase in earnings per share on an 8.2 percent increase in sales for the third quarter of 1987, compared with the same period last year.

Earnings rose to $114.6 million, or $1.57 per share, on sales of $1.855 billion. In the third quarter last year, the company earned $101.5 million, or $1.31 per share, on sales of $1.714 billion.

For the first nine months, earnings were $327.2 million, or $4.44 per share, on sales of $5.523 billion. In the same period last year, earnings were $293.6 million, or $3.78 per share, on sales of $5.267 billion.

"The increase in quarterly earnings continues to reflect improved operating performance and lower taxes," said Thomas L. Phillips, Raytheon's chairman.

Earnings per share were further enhanced through fewer shares outstanding.

Sales and operating performance improved in electronics, energy services and other lines. Major appliances were essentially unchanged. Aircraft products continued to be adversely affected by weak market conditions.

Electronics, led by defense electronics systems, continued to be the largest contributor to company sales and profits.

Amana continues to experience strong demand for refrigerators, room airconditioners and heating and cooling equipment.

Energy services' improved results reflected the positive impact of last year's restructuring efforts.

Based on progress achieved in the third quarter, Beech expects certification of the new Starship turboprop by year's end.

Total backlog at the end of the quarter was $8.083 billion, including funded U.S. government orders of $5.884 billion. Total backlog at the end of last year's third quarter was $7.963 billion, including a funded government backlog of $5.509 billion.

Provisions for federal and foreign income taxes were $61.6 million in the third quarter and $176.8 million in the first nine months, compared with $66.2 million and $185.5 million, respectively, last year. The effective tax rates were 35 percent in the quarter and 35.1 percent in the first nine months. In the same periods last year, these rates were 39.5 percent and 38.7 percent, respectively.

Earnings per share are based on the average number of common shares outstanding during the period. This year, average shares outstanding were 73.2 million in the third quarter and 73.7 million in the first nine months, compared with 77.3 million and 77.6 million, respectively, last year.

From the start of Raytheon's stock purchase program in December 1984 through the first nine months of this year, 12.9 million Raytheon shares have been purchased. The board of directors has authorized the purchase of up to 15 million shares.

Total employment at the end of September was 76,300.

Members of the Christ Church fair committee will meet in early November to vote on the distribution of the profits. Last year more than $2,000 was donated. For further information, contact Christ Church.

What's in a name?

"The name Arlington Trust Company means peace of mind for us."

The Louis Tisbert family has been banking with Arlington Trust Company for over 35 years, so it was only natural that they came to us for financial backing when they started L. Tisbert Masonry Inc. 27 years ago.

"The name Arlington Trust Company means peace of mind for us," says Claire Tisbert. "Whenever the emergencies come, they're always there to see us through. It gives us a real sense of security to know that if a check we're counting on doesn't come in and we have 30 or 40 men waiting to be paid, we can pick up the phone and call Don Schroeder at the bank and he'll have the payroll money waiting for us with Eileen Zuppari at the Shawsheen branch."

Arlington Trust Company has been serving the banking needs of Greater Lawrence since we opened our first office on Essex Street nearly 100 years ago. Today, with 21 full-service offices located throughout northeastern Massachusetts, there's one in a neighborhood near you.

Special Education Report

The Chapter 766 Study Committee, an advisory group to the Andover School Committee, presented its final report to the School Committee at its October 6 meeting.

The study committee, which consisted of parents and teachers, was formed in November 1986 to review the effectiveness of Andover's Special Education Program and make recommendations for program improvement.

The report is based upon a series of surveys which were sent to parents of students in the 766 program and to all teachers in the Andover Public Schools. In addition, the committee heard presentations by Special Education Director Mary French. Copies of the report are available in Memorial Hall Library and from the special education department offices in the school administration building.

Homecoming - Should Tradition Be Changed?

By Laura Corry

Homecoming, a time for the big game, reunions, excitement, good times and memories to look back on.

A Friday night, stands are filling at the football field, cheerleaders are chanting, the crowd is hyped up to see who will win the game. Half time comes in with a bang. The three class floats roar by. As Billy Joel's song says, "This is the time to remember 'cause it will not last forever. These are the days to hold onto 'cause we won't although will want to. This is the time."

Should the tradition of Homecoming Day be broken? No, contrary to rumor, it isn't being broken, just altered. Andover High School administration and faculty have come up with plans for an October Sports and Activities Festival. The question is why no homecoming? As Acting Assistant Principal Timothy Thomas said, "Not many (alumni) come home, how can you call it homecoming when it really isn't true?"

October Sports and Activities Festival is going to focus on all sports and extracurricular activities and especially the students at Andover High. The week kicked off Monday, Oct. 12. The building was open Columbus Day for decorating the foyer between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. (no classes). Scheduled the rest of the week:

Tuesday, recognition of teams. Cheerleaders, golf, field hockey, girls' soccer and girls' swim team.

Wednesday, recognition of the band, Indians, cross country and boys' soccer (wear game shirts).

Thursday, recognition of the color guard, football, volleyball teams. Assembly period 8 and cookout and headlight rally from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the high school.

Friday, all-school Blue and Gold Day. All teams wear game shirts; all students wear blue and gold.

Saturday night, Bob Lague's Talent Show, student and faculty. Parents welcome.

Sunday, second annual girls' flag football game at 12:30 p.m. at the high school.

With a fun-filled week and a little bit of change, this can be a terrific start of the new school year. As Athletic Director Richard Bourdelais stated, "School can offer more than just blackboards and books."

These six students were recognized by the Andover School Committee and Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Seifert for being named National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists. Left to right are, Janet Snell, Jose Guerra, Kathleen Jayes, Kellyann MacLean, Sam Sankar and Johanna Hohn. Guerra and MacLean also received awards from the state association for school superintendents.

Parent members of the 766 Study Committee were Barbara Evans, Robert and Peg Ladd, Alfred Messina, Pat Pakos, Charlene Puglia, Jennifer Rogers, James and Judy Sciabarassi and Douglas Stephens. Staff members who participated in the study were Betsy Jankauskas, David Nichols, Ruth Trepanier and Mary French. Debbie Westaway participated as a professional from outside the Andover system. The committee was chaired by Michael Giammusso, former school committee chairman, and by Margo Tilgham.

Festival Opens Branch Bank

A 24-horse carousel, puppet shows, a country hayride and a drawing that awards a five-minute "ATM Spree" at an automatic teller machine are all a part of the celebration planned by Andover Bank to introduce its new branch. The full service bank at 159 River Road in West Andover opened for business September 14, according to Robert Henderson, president of Andover Bank.

The Fall Festival begins Saturday, Oct. 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the carousel, hayrides, a caricature artist, clowns, facepainting for kids, a Dixieland jazz band and a "physical magician."

The Catskill Puppets will perform on Saturday, Oct. 24, at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., noon and 12:30 p.m. in the balcony.

Andover Bank will sponsor a Halloween Party for children of all ages on Saturday, Oct. 31, including a costume contest and a pumpkin painting contest, and a live radio broadcast.

"We really wanted to introduce the new branch in a unique way while providing some fun for the community we serve," said Lori Teske, vice president-marketing. "During the Fall Festival, there will be something for everyone—plenty for the children to enjoy and a chance for customers to get to know the bank in an informal atmosphere. The bank will be open for business during the events."

A grand prize drawing during the October 31 festivities will give the winner the opportunity to test his speed at the Andover Bank Automatic Teller Machine (ATM) in the new River Road branch. Andover Bank guarantees the winner will walk away with $1000, but depending on the winner's speed, the sky is the limit. The date of the withdrawal spree will be arranged with the winner.

Andover Bank will also give away gift certificates from participating downtown Andover merchants and two $150 U.S. Savings Bonds for children.

Andover Savings Bank is a Massachusetts-chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover. Andover Bank, currently with more than $600 million in assets, has branch banking offices in Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Tewksbury. The bank converted from a mutual institution to a stockholder-owned corporation on May 8, 1986.

The word bonanza was originally Spanish meaning fair weather at sea. It found its way into English through the miners on the Pacific coast who applied it to a very rich body of ore in a mine.

Bell Labs Engineers Find Worst Conditions Turn Best

which can make the radio signals fade. "As a test site," says Lin, "It's so awful, it's perfect."

The measurements have been taken for the past year with test results fed into a computer at the Bell Labs facility in North Andover to be analyzed and studied by supervisor Gary Alley of Londonderry, N.H., and engineers Willard Robinson of Andover, Wei-Chung Peng of Tewksbury and Lin.

The angle-diversity system uses one antenna instead of two, as in other systems. "This represents a substantial reduction in cost," says Adolf Giger, head of Bell Labs Protection and Maintenance Systems Department, "not only for the obvious reason that only one antenna is required but also because the antenna tower is simpler and considerably cheaper to build." The new antenna is a parabolic dish of the same diameter as existing antennas but with a special design that has two radiation lobes instead of one. "Our experiments have shown that, in essence, one of the two angle-diversity antenna lobes always has a good signal, even when the other lobe is deeply faded," says Giger. "We have also found that fading on this radio path causes only a single one-second interruption or click once every three days. This compares with 550 clicks when the radio was connected to a single-lobe antenna system and the existing two-antenna system was disconnected.

"Even the single interruption would have been

When experimenting with scientific matters, sometimes the worst conditions are the best conditions of all.

That's what a local group of AT&T Bell Laboratories engineers found when they picked a hot, flat, humid site in California to field test a new digital microwave antenna system they developed in Massachusetts.

The experimental system, according to engineer Ernie Lin of North Andover, is based on angle diversity and outperforms conventional systems that use two antennas. It's less expensive, too.

"The transmission of both voice and data is virtually error-free," he says. "And we know that if it works in the Imperial Valley in California, it will work anywhere."

The local team of engineers has been monitoring signals on one of the worst microwave radio 'hops' in the country, over a unique terrain—dry, flat desert interrupted batches of irrigated farmland, where much of the country's lettuce is grown. Such conditions cause ground reflections and reflections from atmospheric layers, eliminated if we had used a standard digital radio with automatic protection switching as we do in our nationwide network. The new angle-diversity system, therefore, eliminates the performance impact of atmospheric fading for all practical purposes. Digital radio transmission not only has the advantage of being extremely quiet, like optical fiber transmission, it now can also be made free of any rare, occasional clicks."

Andover People Assist Bike-A-Thon

Terri Sullivan of Andover rides an antique bicycle.

Scholarship

The executive board of Topsfield Fair has announced it will offer a $500 scholarship to an outstanding high school senior in the immediate family of a member of the Essex Agricultural Society.

Further information and applications may be obtained by writing to the fair office, Box 134, Topsfield, MA 01983, in care of Al Craig, General Manager.

Completed applications must be returned to the fair office no later than December 1. The recipient will be announced at the annual society meeting in January.

Fourteen Andover residents joined 125 other bicyclists in the third annual Bon Bike-A-Thon to benefit cancer management services at Bon Secours Hospital. The Bike-A-Thon was held on Sunday, Sept. 27, in memory of Mary C. Gelineau whose family and friends have been so supportive of the Methuen hospital's cancer program in the past.

Riders ranged in age from 10 to 65 and covered the 20-mile course in times from a speedy 45 minutes to a leisurely three hours. Andover riders were Jeff Brown, Stephanie Chechek, Ken Clemmer, Steven Finn, Teresa Wetzler Finn, Bob Fraser, Laura Elson, Tim Haarmann, Tim Haarmann, Jr., Danny Haarmann, Paul Lewis and Jerry Sabath. Terri Sullivan rode an antique bicycle.

"Bon Secours Hospital is extremely appreciative to the many riders, volunteers, sponsors and donors who made the Bike-A-Thon such a success," commented William L. Lane, president/chief executive officer, Bon Secours Hospital. Lane, an Andover resident, was among the Bon Secours employees who rode in the Bike-A-Thon.

Prizes will be awarded to the riders raising the most money through pledges. To date sponsorship and pledges received total nearly $23,000. A final total of funds raised will be announced after all pledges are collected and returned on Friday, Oct. 16.

Preschool Celebrates Anniversary

"Let's get out the blocks!" "A rice table!" "Can I see your doll?" These were some of the comments overhead as the Andover Village Nursery School began its 30th anniversary year last month.

Andover Village Nursery School, located at the Free Church, is Andover's oldest preschool. Special activities are planned to commemorate 30 years of providing stimulating, fun-filled activities for hundreds of Andover's youngsters. A concert by Rick Charette will be held February 13, followed by a party for current and "alumni" children and their parents.

The nursery school is a cooperative, with each child's mother or father helping the teachers one or two mornings a month. Parents assist with art projects, snacks and holiday activities and are welcome on field trips.

Field trips are an important part of the school's curriculum. At least once a month the class takes a trip, sometimes as close as Andover's post office or fire station, or as far as Ipswich. This year's schedule includes a hike in the bird sanctuary at Phillips Academy and a trip to the Children's Discovery Museum in Acton.

Kay Grace is the new director, but she is no stranger to the school. She has been a teacher there for seven years. Linda Hamilton, the new teacher, is a talented guitar player who will assist Kay with music, craft and nature activities.

Several fund-raisers are planned. A Discovery Toy Party will be held October 22 and the annual silent auction will be held at Free Church on December 2. The public is invited to bid on homemade items, gifts donated by local merchants and services provided by parents of current students.

This year's students are Julie Cook, Ross Corliss, Tobi-Ellen Cutler, Becky Dann, Denise Davis, Abigail Deblois, Jessie Fink, Anna Floreen, Brian Gorrie, Iain Hamilton, Kaitlin Hickey, Alexandra Johnston, Michael Kassler-Taub, Matthew Long, Christopher Lotto, Erik Lougee, Dave Mac Dougall, Andrew Mason, Dennis Moran, Rachel Robinson, Christoph Salvo, Matthew Samler, Katie Sand, Elizabeth Smith.

Open House

An open house will be held at Austin Preparatory School, 101 Willow St., Reading, on Sunday, Nov. 1, from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Students will serve as guides for a tour of the school. Representatives of the registrar's office and business office, administrators and teachers will answer questions.

Austin Prep's Entrance and Scholarship Exam will be given Saturdays, Nov. 14 and 21, at 8:30 a.m. Austin will accept applications from boys who wish to enter grades 6, 7, 8, 9 or 10. A new junior school, which includes grades 6-8, was added. The school is also beginning a boarding option for students in grades 9-12.

Austin Prep is a modern secondary school dedicated to meeting the academic, cultural and athletic needs of boys in the average to superior range of intellectual ability. As a Catholic educational institution, Austin teaches and follows Christian principles, but admits boys of all faiths.

The school was founded in 1961 by the Order of St. Augustine, which had been requested by Richard Cardinal Cushing to provide high quality secondary education for the North Shore area.

Andover Residents Building Office Complex In Malden

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held recently for Carmen Plaza, the latest commercial venture in Malden by Andover residents Larry S. Mazonson and Peter DeMarco.

The Bank For Savings has signed a long-term lease to occupy 25,000 square feet in the four-story office complex at 110 Florence St. The bank, which currently has five locations in Malden, will relocate its operations center to this site.

Conveniently located, the site is minutes away from Malden's downtown and within walking distance from the Malden Center MBTA stop on the Orange Line and Commuter Rail.

Other features of the brick building include two levels of below-grade parking, exercise facilities for the tenants and 2,000 square feet of space for the Malden Knights of Columbus.

Stateside Builders of Natick is the general contractor. Occupancy is scheduled for April 1988.

Other commercial developments by the Andover residents include Tara Plaza, one-story, 16,063-square-foot retail/office building on Malden's heavily traveled Route 60, and Adams Plaza, a 79,379-square-foot development on Eastern Avenue. Adams Plaza comprises three separate structures: a one-story retail sales building and two restaurants with off-street parking.

DeMarco and Mazonson have also restored two of Malden's older structures in the heart of Malden Square. The preservation of these architecturally significant buildings has generated accolades from the Greater Malden community. One of the buildings, known to many Maldenians as the Waite Block, has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places. Mazonson maintains an office there.

Historical Walk

MetroParks will lead a one-and-a-half hour walk through history Saturday, Oct. 17, starting at 11 a.m. The walk will explore the remains of two great American industries that began in Quincy at Bunker Hill Quarry: large scale granite quarrying and the commercial railroad.

Meet at the intersection of Willard Street and Ricciui Drive (near Mr. Tux).

Taxable

When cashing U.S. Savings Bonds or Treasury Bills, remember that the interest must be reported as taxable income, the Internal Revenue Service says.

"Bank tellers sometimes forget to give the taxpayer Form 1099, which states how much interest a savings bond has earned," District Director John D. Johnson said.

Banks report this interest payment to the IRS, so it is important that taxpayers keep the form and include the information when filing federal taxes.

Lecture

The Salem State College Public Policy Institute will feature a lecture by Carlos Tunnermann Bernheim, Nicaraguan Ambassador to the U.S., in the SSC Auditorium on Thursday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Bernheim has been part of the Nicaraguan government since the 1979 overthrow of Somoza. He became intertwined with the revolutionary forces when he joined "The Twelve," a group of well known professionals and businessmen allied with the Sandanista National Liberation Front.

Choose a simple IRA now, and save the hard decisions for later.

Investing for retirement should be easy, profitable, and flexible. And that's why you should look into the new 3-year IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank.

Once you've gotten started, you can add to it whenever you like. You can even consolidate other IRA's into it. (We'll be happy to transfer IRA's from other institutions into it for you.) And the interest it pays will always be 1/4% over the 3-year U.S. Treasury rate, adjusted each month. That way, no matter what happens to interest rates, you'll always be earning a competitive yield.

So make planning for retirement as simple as it can be with a 3-year variable rate IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank. It's the kind of investment that could leave you in an enviable position.

THE LANDSCAPE DESIGN

Part II WHAT A LANDSCAPE DESIGN DOES

A landscape design's major objective is to develop all elements of a property into a harmonizing whole. By doing so, a design can offer the most efficient use of spaces, solve environmental problems, and offer interest and beauty throughout the year.

To create functional outdoor spaces, a number of elements need to be considered. Initially, contours are the biggest concern, and may be complimented or corrected with walls or terraces. Then, placement of major features such as driveways, pools and fencing are considered. Next, the walks, patios and decks are established. As lawns, trees and shrubs are incorporated, irrigation and lighting may be considered to complete the landscape.

Many environmental problems can be solved with plants alone, or in coordination with other materials. Trees and shrubs, properly placed, can screen unsightly views, control erosion, act as wind breaks, create summer shade and allow for solar heating in the winter.

A landscape design is also used to create a desired visual effect. Flower and leaf colors, textures, fall colors, fruit and overall habit of plants are considered, along with the style of the home and the character of the property.

Of course, all of these steps are guided by your needs and preferences. The result will not only be a pleasing environment, but will also be an investment that grows.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer

CAUSE FOR SEPARATION

There has been recent emphasis on cooktops and ovens rather than one complete one-piece stove. The reason is that there is no longer justification, even on cost grounds, for installing one-piece floor-standing stoves in small kitchens. In limited space, it is even more dangerous and inconvenient to use a low-level oven than it is in a larger kitchen. It used to be argued that split-level cooking arrangements took up more space than one-piece stoves. However, now that we have a new generation of very compact ovens, this is no longer the case. The advantage rests with separating the cooktop from the oven and fitting each of them at the most convenient heights for the users involved.

"Do your own thing" may be an old phrase but it can apply to your kitchen renovation. If you want what is not quite in style but it will fit your cooking style then go for it. Whether it's cook tops, regular ovens or microwaves, choose what will benefit your family's mode of living. At WINDSOR KITCHENS we give you choices for your cabinets as well as appliances. We feature the AES line of German appliances that includes ovens, dishwashers, cook tops and refrigerators. We offer items that are compatible with one another and that give you a total look. 1181 Boston Rd. Ward Hill, Wed. 9-6 Thursday 9 to 5:30, Friday 9 to 5:30, Saturday 10 to 2; Sun., Mon., Tues. closed or by appointment. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:
It often makes sense to locate a microwave oven in a snack area of the kitchen.

Strange Happenings At Auditorium

During the last few days strange goings-on have been noted around the Doherty Memorial Auditorium off Bartlet and Whittier Streets in Andover. Some people have noticed odd looking characters walking through the school and town offices, climbing the old staircases and making themselves comfortable in the still newly upholstered seats in the auditorium. Isolated reports are coming in of small groups of beasts roaming in packs in nearby Central Park.

Although explanations seem to point to the ninth annual Haunted House sponsored by the Department of Community Services and Andover's Theatre Company to be held Friday, Oct. 30, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. (admission is charged), no one is confirming anything at town hall. "There are no skeletons in our closets," says DCS Director Joan Pearson. Howls, growls and stomping feet are just a few of the eerie sounds filtering up from the tunnel which runs beneath the auditorium. Heavy feet dragging chairs along the staircases and cold breezes blowing through the halls have the doors creaking and have put most of the school and town employees in the building on guard.

Last year's Haunted House attracted 613 werewolves, witches, ghosts and monsters; this year the old building seems to be attracting its best weirdos yet. Crawly creatures resembling overgrown insects have adopted the school auditorium as a winter residence. Giant spiders crawl along the walls and floors and loathe-some creatures hide in the dark shadows.

Adults and senior high school students are still needed to man the hallways, dark corners and building haunts on Halloween evening. The only thing they need to do is come dressed in costume with working flashlight about one-half hour prior to the opening of the door and to call the DCS to let them know they're coming. Those unable to work during the evening may bring in props, stuffed dummies and the like to help decorate the house. All donations will be welcomed.

For more information, call the Department of Community Services.

Reservation Flowers Discussed

Four Seasons Garden Club held their October meeting with Helen Sapuppo. Barbara Eimers was co-hostess.

The centerpiece of mums, gourds and dried materials was arranged by the hostess.

The resignation of recording secretary, Diane Arserio, was read and accepted with reluctance. The directors appointed Mrs. Sapuppo as her successor.

In the absence of Emily Saliby, beautification chairperson, President Barbara Calnan announced spring flowering bulbs will be planted this month at the Andover Post Office.

Emily Saliby and Barbara Calnan entered the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts Flower Exhibit at Topsfield Fair.

Program chairperson Margaret Cronin presented John A. Gould of Phillips Academy. His lecture, "Andover in Bloom," was accompanied by slides of wildflowers found in Andover reservations. For the past three summers he has conducted a wildflower census for A.V.I.S., listing more than 210 species, including a "whorled pogonia," an orchid which has not been sighted in Essex County since 1905. Gould has been published in Maine's Down East and Massachusetts Horticulture Society where some of his wildflower photos are sold in their gift shop.

The November meeting will be held with Renate Schott. Marion Robinson, assistant director of Northeastern District of Garden Federation of Massachusetts, will give the program, "An English Country Christmas," using seasonal flowers.

Church News

church services ...

Laity Sunday

Laity Sunday will be observed at the Ballard Vale United Church (a United Methodist and United Church of Christ congregation) this Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. Service of the Word. This year's theme is "Living as Disciples in our Neighborhoods." The local church defines its neighborhood as not only Ballardvale but the whole Greater Lawrence area, so, during this Sunday's service, the ministry of the church's laity with Neighbors in Need, Bread and Rose, GLEAM and Lazarus as well as its basketball program and parish visitation and support of families in crisis situations will be celebrated. A member of the staff at Bread and Roses will bring greetings and share the story of the Bread and Roses ministry in Lawrence which provides daily hot meals. The Ballard Vale United Church's United Methodist Women and Women's Guild cook a meal the first Saturday of the month for Bread and Roses.

A time for fellowship and light refreshments will follow the service.

Christian Music

"Sunday Night Live" at St. Robert's presents a coffeehouse of Christian music on October 18 at 6:30 p.m. with Fr. Paul McManus and seminarians of St. John's Seminary, Brighton. Fr. Paul and his friends have shared the joy of the Gospel through music in the Boston area. People of all ages are invited to enjoy this informal evening of music and fellowship. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

St. Robert's Studies Synod Reports

St. Robert's parishioners will attend a Synod Reflection Center in their parish hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 21.

The parishes of Boston have been asked to react to three assigned reports from among the 26 1988 synod committee reports by having their people read and discuss them in a special meeting. The topics assigned to St. Robert's are parish, worship and higher education.

Dr. Frank Griggs of Merrimack College, who was a member of the Synod Higher Education Committee, has been asked by the Cardinal to be his official representative at the St. Robert's meeting. There will be 300 similar meetings throughout the Boston Archdiocese this month. Every local bishop in the world has been directed by the Pope to consult in this way and plan for the future of the church. A two-year process will culminate in a formal updating of the diocesan statutes and a final statement of the goals of the local church in harmony with the universal church. Advanced copies of all Boston synod reports are available in the parishes and will be used as the sources for reflection at the parish meetings designed to bring the Vatican II renewal down to the grassroots and the people's input up to the church leaders.

Peace Service

The monthly Prayer Service for Peace and Justice, sponsored by the Andover Ecumenical Peace Group, will be held at the Ballard Vale United Church on Tuesday, Oct. 20, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Gary S. Cornell, the church's pastor, and Kathy Robinson, a member of the host church, will lead the service of prayers and scripture. Special attention will be paid to the on-going peace process in Central America. The service will conclude with a love feast, a service in the Methodist tradition. The community is invited.

Religious School

Congregation Tifereth Anshai Sfar Religious School, 492 Lowell St., Lawrence, has begun its fall schedule. Classes are held for students kindergarten age and up. The school serves students from Methuen, Lawrence, Andover, Salem, N.H., and the Merrimack Valley.

THE TOWNSMAN, OCTOBER 15, 1987

Abbott's Pond Project

Committee Will Advise Selectmen On Whether To Work With Picwel

By Lewis C. Howe

The Andover Housing Partnership Committee (AHPC) will recommend to the Board of Selectmen Oct. 28 whether the town should work with Picwel Builders in the development of the Abbott's Pond mixed-income housing project.

The proposal calls for the construction of 45 units on a 9-acre lot at the corner of Argilla Road and Andover St. Last week, the developers revised their site plan to better integrate the "affordable" units with the market-rate units, something AHPC Chairman Carl Byers termed "a show of good faith" on the part of Picwel.

Having the "affordable" units, priced at $78,500 and $110,000, interspersed with luxury condominiums "improves the perception" of the project, said Stephen Colyer, town physical planner. Previously, Colyer explained, the "affordable" units had been largely clustered at one end of the site, resulting in "perceived inequity" within the project.

"What you had was a low-and-moderate income 'neighborhood' at one end," Colyer continued, "and a 'ritzy' neighborhood at the other end. Now, the perception is that everyone is part of the same neighborhood."

Colyer told the AHPC last week the state Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) "wouldn't fund the program as designed previously." Picwel, he added, has "addressed residents' and the town's concerns" on the subject.

AHPC member David Hastings reported the developer had been "willing to make these concessions" in order to move ahead with the project. The units were no longer "separated by income brackets" he said, which was "a positive step" on Picwel's part.

Hastings also praised Picwel for sending letters to residents who would abut Abbott's Pond, urging them to view the revised site plan at the Picwel offices. "It was a good start" at communication between the two parties, Hastings remarked.

Before Picwel goes before the MHFA to seek funding for the project in November, Colyer said, the developer needs approval of the site plan from the Zoning Board of Appeals, and a recommendation from the AHPC based on the site plan. The appeal of the comprehensive permit must also be dismissed, he added.

Hastings commented that "residents should attempt to turn the other cheek one more time and work with these people (Picwel)" in spite of past strained relations between the two groups.

If the Abbott's Pond proposal receives state funding, Hastings said, the AHPC should assist the developer in the project. "We should begin a dialogue with them now, and maintain a dialogue after such time as funding is approved."

This may not sit well with members of the Argilla Road Neighborhood Association (ARNA), who oppose Abbott's Pond, and who charged Picwel, in a letter to State Representative Sue Tucker (D-Andover), with misleading residents, trying to "bully" them, and "suggest(ing) favorable treatment if we drop our concerns about the project."

Mary Peck, a member of the ARNA, said neighbors in the Argilla Road area were not contacted by Picwel "from day one until we sent the letter to Sue Tucker." Peck said she and another resident took the developer up on their offer to visit Picwel's office, and said while the site plan was readily available, "there was no one who could answer some of our questions" about the project.

Peck said she recognizes the need for low-income housing, but contends "(Picwel) could still make money on this by building 30 units, instead of 45." Residents have long had concerns about project density, she said, but Picwel did not contact the abutters to Abbott's Pond following an initial meeting last winter Peck said was arranged by the residents.

"We called Mr. (Doug) Ahearn (of Picwel), and we conveyed many of our concerns to him," Mrs. Peck recalled. "This was in January of February of this year. He said he would get back to us, but he never did." Last week's letter of invitation to neighbors, she added, is Ahearn's means of rectifying that inaction in the face of official criticism. "He's covering up very nicely" Peck commented, for a prior lack of communication.

This does not mean, she continued, that an accord cannot be reached on the Abbott's Pond issue. Peck does not see the realignment of units on the revised site plan as being sufficient. "It's not a major concession," she remarked. "They haven't changed enough (units) around. We would like to see less density, and a better mix of units."

Another sore spot for residents concerns Picwel's alleged misrepresentation of the purchase price of the land in question. According to the ARNA's letter, the developer "tried to convince everyone they paid $2.8 million for land when they only paid approximately $617,000."

Hastings said he sees the land-cost controversy as "a dead issue." He pointed out the realignment of units means abutters Vincent and Jane LeGendre will face "just two units instead of 16." Residents with concerns, he added, should contact the state. "The MHFA and EOCD both know we're alive," Hastings quipped, "we need to write to them, they will respond to us."

LeGendre asked the AHPC why a state official had told her funding had already been approved for Abbott's Pond when it in fact had not. Part of the problem appears to be with the process itself. Rep. Tucker has filed a series of bills designed to modify the comprehensive permit process under Chapter 774—also known as the Massachusetts "anti-snob" zoning law—in order to prevent similar communication glitches at the state level.

Tucker also proposes to limit project density and alter the law mandating 10 percent of all housing in a community must be "affordable."

Unlike bills being bandied about the State House to repeal Chapter 774, Colyer believes Tucker's legislation has a better chance of being enacted. "You have a better chance of adjusting and modifying the law than you do of repealing it," he pointed out.

Byers said the AHPC's role is to "serve as mediators" between developers and residents. Comprehensive permits are "very adversarial" he noted, "especially when it applies to your neighborhood." Opposition to these proposals, Byers stated, "is not unexpected."

Collaborative School Invites Communities' Suggestions

By Lewis C. Howe

The Andover/Lawrence Collaborative School Project has completed its preliminary report, and the group will be holding a series of meetings in both communities to gain input from residents on how to best develop the proposed regional K-8 school.

Project Director Dennis Richards urged citizens to attend at least one of the upcoming sessions—October 17 at Lawrence's Arlington school, 9:30 a.m., October 19 at West Elementary, 7:30 p.m., October 24 at West Elementary, 9:30 a.m., and October 26 at the Frost School in Lawrence, 7:30 p.m.

Richards stressed "this is just a preliminary report from our subcommittees," and added "our intention is to hear from the communities, revise and rewrite the report" based on residents' suggestions and recommendations.

The revised report, he said, will be presented to the Collaborative School Project's feasibility study committee in December, with a final report to be delivered to both the Andover and Lawrence school committees in January. This, Richards commented, will enable a spring vote from Town Meeting and the Lawrence City Council on whether to go ahead with the experimental school, scheduled to open in the fall of 1990.

Richards reported "things are moving ahead" on all fronts in the design of the facility. A 24-acre site off Beacon St. in Andover is being examined for the school's home. Appraisals have been taken, and a hazardous waste 21E study showed the land to be clean.

Cedar Homes, owners of the property, have expressed "a willingness to negotiate" the sale of the land, Richards said. An environmental impact study "concerning safety, traffic and other ways the school would affect the neighborhood" will be forthcoming, he added.

State funding for the project is also going well, Richards noted. "We have talked with the state and are more convinced than ever that they are 100 percent behind it." The Massachusetts legislature and the state Department of Education would pay for site acquisition and construction, the Project Director explained, and the commonwealth will also pick up 27 percent of the school's operating costs. Land and construction costs are estimated at between $25 and $40 million, while the first-year total operating cost has been projected at approximately $7.1 million.

In order to attain the state funding, the Collaborative School Project has drafted legislation calling for these subsidies. "We've been talking with area legislators" said Richards, "and we hope to have the bills filed within the next month."

The project's Programming Committee has devised a curriculum framework for the proposed school consisting of three categories. The first of these is knowledge, or as Richards put it, "a sense of what students should know once they leave the eighth grade."

Some of the expected competencies for eighth-graders, according to the Collaborative School Project's preliminary report, are reading comprehension, arithmetic skills, the ability to write coherent and grammatical English and a familiarity with world geography.

Children finishing the eighth grade should also know the major events of American history and principles of democracy, know basic earth and natural science, and be able to learn to appreciate and create in the arts, the report said.

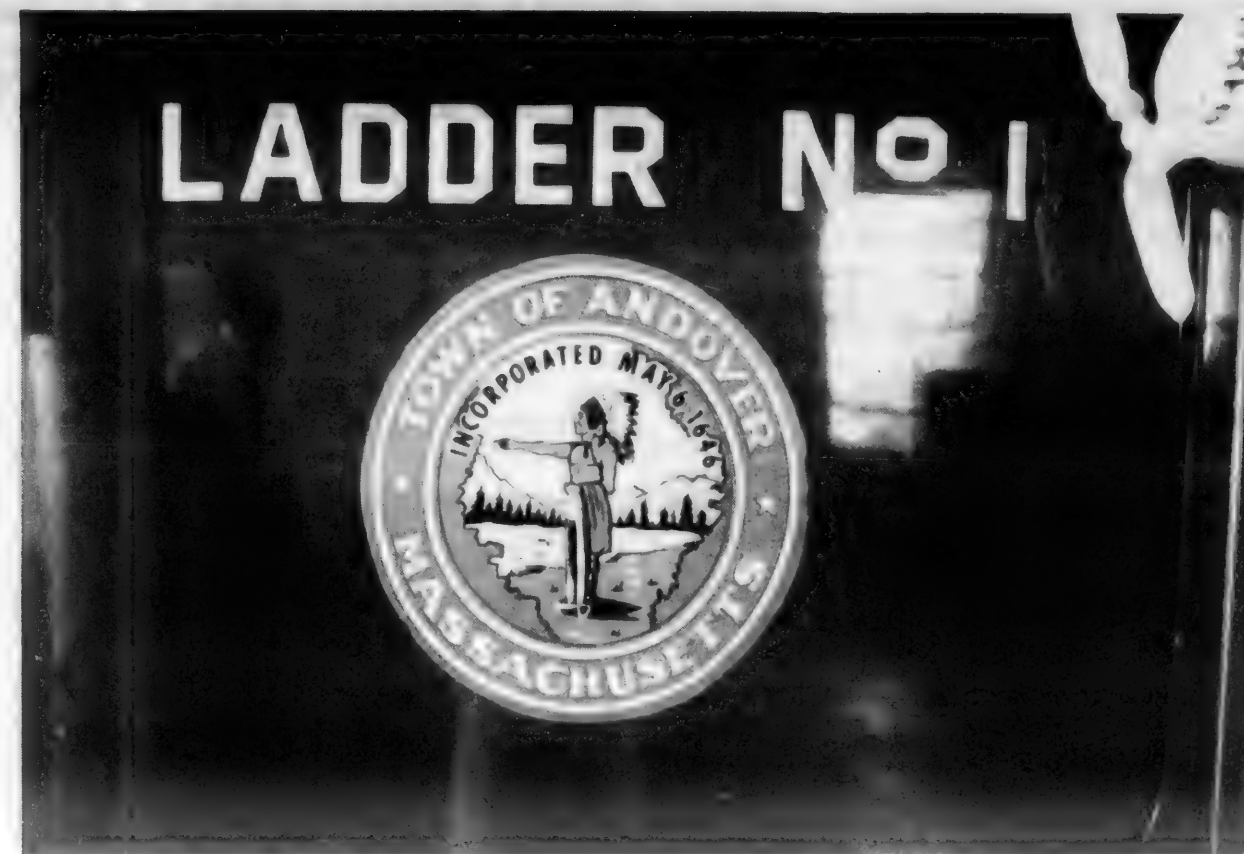

Beyond mere knowledge, Richards commented, students should develop skills to apply what is learned in the classroom. "Applying the knowledge is the real key thing," he stated. "We want (students) to be able to demonstrate they can use their knowledge."

The final component to the curriculum would be Values/Attitudes, which Richards described as "a concern for others, a development of values as part of the school." This, he added, is similar to the "school culture" program being insti-

When I Grow Up ...

A host of Andover children (and their parents) found out what it's like to be a firefighter last Saturday at the Andover Fire Department's open house. As part of Fire Prevention Week Oct. 4-11, Andover firefighters conducted several demonstrations, including the jaws of life, used to pry open a car after a serious accident. But the most fascinating thing at the fire station, for most of the kids, was the trucks.

The Neighborhood Groups

There is yet another 'civic-minded' organization in operation in Andover.

These groups, familiarly known as neighborhood associations, spring up from time to time, specifically to protect their neighborhood under the guise of community improvement and protection.

This particular group, the Argilla Road Neighborhood Association (ARNA), has been in operation since Picwel Builders decided to institute development in the Argilla Road area with some of the housing designated for low or moderate income families.

The group will exist for as long as the controversy surrounding the development of the property is in the forefront and then quietly disappear.

It is commonplace in Andover, and probably in most communities, that neighborhoods band together to present a unified effort toward opposing something or in general, protecting property in a particular section of the town.

Basically, it amounts to whose ox is being gored, rather than focusing on the overall best interests of the community at large.

We have seen such groups come into creation in the past and somehow or other disappear almost as quickly as they are formed.

Among the more notable is the West Andover Neighborhood Association (WANA) which a few years ago came up with bylaws, plans to offer viewpoints on municipal operations and even planned some social events, which may or may not have happened.

But, the basic purpose of the organization was to present united opposition to the construction of an indoor arena and hockey rink in the West Andover area which was to be given to the town by a local family.

When the idea of the rink and arena proved not to be feasible, WANA faded into obscurity.

We mention these items simply because it would be more acceptable to the community as a whole if the various neighborhood groups were up front at the outset and state their effort is to oppose something, or at least have a better understanding of what is being proposed for a specific area.

It should also be pointed out that Andover has had community-minded groups in existence for years.

Such groups as the Ballardvale Village Improvement Association and the Shawsheen Village Neighborhood Association have, in fact, been around for quite a while and participated in community efforts.

The Ballardvale group is particularly notable for their annual efforts at spring and fall cleaning which consists of general cleanup of the playground, green and painting of the railroad station, for instance.

There are social events as well in the village.

All of this continues in view of the fact that residents of the 'Vale have lived with severe traffic problems ever since the development of the Lowell Junction Industrial area.

Some of the opposition to the proposed Argilla Road development, as well as other low-moderate income proposals for the 'Vale area, has come from officers of the Ballardvale community improvement group.

Somehow or other, we tend to think that organization would carry more weight than a small band of people gathering to protect specific personal interests.

DOWN THE YEARS

75 Years Ago — October 1912

Charles S. Warden of this town has been elected a director of the National Duck and Candle Pin bowling congress at Boston.

The Punchard school pupils and teachers will hold a Hallowe'en party in the school hall on Friday evening, November 1.

An alarm of fire was sounded on Tuesday evening for a brush fire in the woods on the Peter Smith estate. The trouble was quickly overcome with little loss.

A Lawrence man has been given six months in the house of correction for stealing hens. Many complaints have been heard of late from residents of Frye Village, Burnham Road and the lower end of High street in regard to chicken thefts.

One of the mechanics at the new Tyer factory was arrested by the police Wednesday for drunkenness, as he was found in an intoxicated condition on a lawn near the center of town.

The Board of Public Works has now under consideration an offer of two second hand boilers which if found satisfactory for use at the local pumping station would represent a substantial savings to the town.

The new officers of the Legion will be installed on next Thursday night. County Commander Joseph Hines may be the installing officer.

The Andover Parent-Teacher's association will meet on Wednesday, October

20. Nathan C. Hamblin, principal of Punchard High School, will be the featured speaker.

Howard Pillsbury, engineer at the pumping station, tendered his resignation to the Board of Public Works Wednesday night, and it was accepted.

The hold-up at Howard Johnson's restaurant in May resulted in long prison sentences for three Greater Boston men when they pleaded guilty in Superior Court last Saturday.

Meet the Candidates night, sponsored by the Andover League of Women Voters, will take place Friday evening in the Andover High School auditorium.

Members of the Andona Society of Andover have been busy making plans and decorations for their first event of the year, the Harvest Ball, to be held next Friday at the Andover Country Club.

Active members of the community who devote time to municipal service can be the hardest hit by provisions of the conflict of interest law. Thus many boards and committees will find themselves without the services of these men and women, if the law becomes effective in its present form.

Only a small chance remains that a special town meeting will be held to consider Urban Renewal. Unless the event takes place, the decision on any renewal plan will be made at the annual town meeting.

10 Years Ago — October 1977

With assurances from a majority of the selectmen that he would remain on the payroll for another six months, Town Manager J. Maynard Austin submitted his resignation to the board Tuesday night.

The shutting down of a school turned up this week as one of four prime answers to declining enrollments in the elementary grades.

The annual October town meeting will be gavelled to order Monday, Oct. 24, in Memorial Auditorium of East Junior High School, with voters facing 27 articles in the main warrant and six additional items in a special meeting agenda.

The Andover Chamber of Commerce is planning many activities for the Christmas season. The focus is going to be on the downtown area and will involve various groups in town. The goal is to bring the town to Main Street to enjoy the season as an entire community.

Perry Leads Warriors In Romp

By Lewis C. Howe

Three touchdowns by John Perry and 164 yards rushing by Devon Arsenault led the Andover High Golden Warriors to a 27-0 romp past Billerica last Friday night. Andover will encounter the arch-rival Methuen Rangers at Lovely Field tomorrow night at 7:00.

Perry did his best Gordie Lockbaum impersonation, opening the scoring with a 15-yard pass reception from Brandon McCue, rushing 47 yards for Andover's second TD, and putting the game out of reach with a 62-yard punt return that made the score 20-0 with four minutes gone in the third quarter.

It was the second game in a row that Perry had accounted for 18 points, and Warrior Coach Dick Collins said he was "pretty pleased" with the play of his offense. "We were explosive," he said. "Our first team ran only 30 plays the entire game," Collins pointed out. "That's an average of one score every seven plays or so."

Arsenault, who wounded the Indians with 102 first-half yards on the ground, rounded out the scoring with a 55-yard scamper late in the third quarter. The 170-pound senior halfback finished with 164 yards on 16 carries for his second consecutive 100-yard contest this year.

"Devon was truly outstanding," Collins commented. "In the last two ballgames, I'd say he's been the best back we've had since Dave Bennett." Arsenault is "cut from the same mold" as Bennett, who went on to star at Boston College after graduating Andover in 1965, the coach stated. "That's the highest praise I can give" to a young back, he quipped.

Not to be lost in the glow of the offense, which manufactured touchdown drives of 93 and 89 yards in the first half, was the vise-like play of the defense. Billerica, after moving the ball fairly well on the ground during the first half, was only able to muster 50 yards in offense after the break.

Three first-half turnovers, including a fumble by fullback Joe Napoli on the Andover 11, killed any chances the Indians may have had in this one. The only other Billerica scoring threat was halted by an interception by Perry (that man again!) on the Warrior 15 shortly before the halftime gun sounded.

Indian Quarterback Paul Laundry completed just one of 12 passes for seven yards. "They just didn't have a good day throwing," allowed Collins, "our defense can't take all the credit." Numerous dropped passes by his receivers hung Laundry out to dry.

Still, Collins noted, "we shut them out, so what can you say?" Collins will be looking for a duplication of last Friday's effort against Methuen, which was stunned by Lawrence on Saturday, 6-0, despite racking up 289 yards in offense.

The previously-unbeaten Rangers, now 3-1, are led by Quarterback Tony Castro (10-19, 140 yards last week) and star running back Dan Ford. Andover, at 2-1, would vault into second place in the Merrimack Valley Conference with a victory.

Collins said it would be difficult to predict how the Rangers would react following the upset loss, but added "this is always a real big game for them. They traditionally play Andover tough."

The tremendous rivalry between the towns, Collins stated, stems from the civic pride of "many long-time residents in Methuen who remember the old-time games between the two towns." The Andover-Methuen tradition "goes back a long ways" he remarked, and the older population of Methuen "always make this a very special game."

Lady Warriors Stand At 7-2-1

By Jay Saunders

As the girls' varsity soccer team passed the midpoint in their season, they established dominance in their league and marginal success in non-league competition.

Andover's first game of the week was with the Concord-Carlisle team that knocked the Lady Warriors out of last year's state tournament.

The Concord girls came out hard and fast. Despite moments of outstanding individual effort, Andover never developed cohesive team play. Concord-Carlisle were quicker to the ball and to provide support in the development of attacking movements. The Lady Warriors' defense played hard, but were under constant pressure. Concord broke through at the 30-minute mark of the first half for the game's only goal. Andover fought hard in the second half, but were unable to finish their offensive thrusts.

The Lady Warriors played a lethargic first half against a weak Wilmington. As the second half opened, Andover began to awaken and play soccer. The first score came when Jodi Sanders one-touched a Kathy Doran pass into the net. Andover was working well defensively, maintaining goal side position and denying offensive penetration. Michelle Meli, in for an injured Beth Howe, shut down Wilmington's right wings.

Andover's second tally came on a Kerry Fitzpatrick pass finished by leading scorer Shaleen Cassily. Senior Kim Heseltine closed out the scoring late in the half with the assist going to Suzanne Gianelly.

The week's final game was against last year's state champion, Winchester. Coach Loschi brought a team that had five players out with illness or injury. Winchester immediately gained the early territorial edge. As the half unfolded it was clear that Andover had superior talent, but that Winchester was playing more as a team. Neither team was able to assert clear dominance as play was fast paced end to end. The Lady Warriors scored first on a direct kick from Doran, deflected by Heseltine and finished by Kathleen Radulski. Winchester fought back for the equalizer and the half ended 1-1.

Andover's defense continued to excel in the second half with especially strong performances by Krissie Carothers, Michelle Meli and Brenna Cronin. Karen Del Sarto preserved the tie with outstanding goalkeeping.

Warriors Booters Boost Record

By Scott Frieze

Wins over Wilmington, 4-1, and Haverhill, 11-0, and a loss to small school rival Tewksbury, 4-1, brought the Andover Warrior men's soccer squad to a 6-2-2 record through the week ending October 10.

Tewksbury is Andover's traditional rival from the Merrimack Valley (small school) Conference and the Redmen and Warriors square off once in a season. Tewksbury won 4-1 this year and deserved the victory, dominating play in the first and second halves. The Warriors were consistently losing the battle to collect the free ball, unable to get to the ball first and could not control the game. As a result, the Redmen scored four goals, including a penalty shot made good by their own goalie. Andover's Peter Kannam connected on a beautifully placed ball threaded by Mike Mooney through a pair of defenders.

The Warriors went to Wilmington on Thursday, finishing their four-game "road swing" with a 4-1 victory. Tom Ciolfi scored in the first half to make the score 1-0 into halftime. Goals in the second stanza came from Peter Kannam (1) and Matt Pothier (2). Goalie Rob Stoltz came out late in the second half due to a scuffle inside the goalie box, which resulted in his receiving a nasty bruise on his shin. Back-up goalie, junior Eric Hammond, finished the game to preserve the 4-1 victory.

Andover hosted Haverhill last Saturday and easily disposed of them 11-0. Senior striker Mike Mooney opened the barrage of scoring seven minutes into the game, the first of his two goals on the morning. Kannam, Paul Anderson and Rich Atkinson each added goals before the half was over. The Warriors showed no mercy as the second half got underway, continuing the pressure with shots and subsequent goals. If it were not for the many blatant offsides against Andover late in the second half, stopping practically all scoring opportunities and flat-out breakaways, the score might have soared even higher. Adding to the second-half scoring spree were Steve Napolitano (2), Mooney, Tom Ciolfi (on a penalty shot), Scott Frieze, Pothier and Bob Hughes. Stoltz and Hammond shared the shut-out and victory.

Koerckel, Van Aken Swimmers

Last Friday the Andover High School girls' varsity swim team swept over the defending Merrimack Valley Conference champion Haverhill High School team 99-73. Triple winners Laura Koerckel and Amy Van Aken led a balanced attack. There were many personal best times and strong performances from everyone.

Kristen Hubbell, Kate Tobbs, Pam Boucher and Laura Ghirardini took second and Allyson Bates, Bryn McGovern, co-captain Johanna Hohn and Lisa Fox third in the 200 yard medley. Boucher placed second in the 200 yard freestyle with Karen Pedersen third.

Swimming the 200 yard individual medley for the first time this season, Van Aken took the victory with Tracey Pool third and Hubbell fourth. Koerckel, Erika Suduiko and Ghirardini want 1-2-3 in the 50 free.

Mia Kearins posted her highest diving score of the season as she captured the event with Patti Del Trecco and Janet Hohn third and fourth, respectively. Ghirardini was second in the 100 yard butterfly with Pool third and Hohn fourth.

Van Aken won the 100 free to complete her triple while Pedersen was fifth. Fox just missed second place in the 500 free while Hohn was fourth and Eszter Vajda placed fifth.

Suduiko sowed a two-second time improvement in the 100 backstroke, finishing second. Hubbell was third.

Koerckel finished her triple by winning the 100 yard breaststroke with Robb third and Monica Davis fifth.

Van Aken, Pool, Suduiko and Koerckel easily won the 400 freestyle relay while Pedersen, Tricia Dziadosz, Fox and Robb took second.

West Nips Billerica At Wire

By S. Muffin

The Andover West Junior High School football team scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter last Friday to beat Billerica 31-30.

The game was action packed from the opening coin toss, which West won and chose to kickoff. The strategy paid off as Adam Perry, getting his first start as nose guard, recovered a fumble on the second down on the Billerica 30-yard line. Quarterback Joe Iarrobino wasted no time and handed off to Brett Hammond on successive plays and Hammond finally bulled in the endzone for the game's first points. He then kicked the extra point and West had a 7-0 lead.

The scrappy Billerica offense mounted a drive which led to pay dirt. They then went for the two-point conversion and were successful, taking the lead 8-7.

Matt Perry took the helm of the high-powered passing offense of West and connected with Hammond on a 30-yard touchdown pass. West went for the two-point conversion and Perry connected with Jeff Davis who was all alone in the endzone.

Billerica answered West's challenge with 22 unanswered points to take a 30-15 lead into the fourth quarter.

On their first series in the fourth quarter, West marched the ball down the field as Perry hit all his receivers on consecutive passes. Matt McClune, Jeff Foley, Andy Bedell and Hammond all made fine catches on this drive, the final connection being a Perry to Hammond combination to reach the endzone. Perry then passed to Chris Davis for the two-point conversion.

Only seven points down with four minutes remaining, the defense came alive after a pep talk by defensive coach Carney. Middle linebacker Will Lowery led the charge and West stopped the Billerica offense on three straight plays, forcing them to punt.

The offense then took the field and brought the ball down to the three-yard line where Craig Deranian bulled his way into the endzone with 28 seconds left. Perry then hit Foley on a pass with the winning points.

Profiles in Caring

Nursing at

Lawrence General Hospital

Debbie Kosak, R.N.

The patient aspects of nursing, "caring for people and contributing to their well-being," is what attracted Debbie Kosak to her profession. Debbie is assistant head nurse on Lamprey-4, a telemetry unit that provides a level of care for people with heart disease that is a step-down from the Coronary Care Unit.

"We do a lot of cardiac teaching, which is the most satisfying aspect of my work," says Debbie.

Born and raised in Everett, Debbie graduated from Everett High School and the Lawrence Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. A registered nurse for 14 years, Debbie joined Lawrence General Hospital in 1976. She was chosen by her peers as this year's outstanding Telemetry Unit nurse and honored at a Nurse Recognition Day Luncheon in May. Debbie lives in Danville, New Hampshire with her husband, Rick, and their three children: Richard, Jr., 9; Kristen, 6; and Matthew, 18 months.

West Frosh Drop Two

By Amy Burnham

Andover West field hockey's record stood at 1-3 at the start of week two as the girls ran into a team from Doherty who scored six goals while posting a shutout. West standouts were Maureen Mitchell and Grace Perry at inner and wings Kerry Zaloga, the team's leading scorer, and Tina Coluci were strong on offense. Holly Donahue has earned most improved player and nailed down a starting spot as halfback while Amy Burnham played her usual strong game as sweep.

A lot of time was spent shoring up the defense during practice sessions and it paid off in a close game against Chelmsford on the road. After being scored on by the Lions in the first 20 seconds of the first half, the West frosh were able to shut them out the rest of the way as Melissa McCarthy had 15 saves in goal and earned the praise of the Chelmsford coach.

Defensive honors go to Burnham. She suffered a hand injury late in the first period, but after being taped by trainer Vivian Chen, was able to play the entire second half. Mitchell receives offensive honors for her outstanding play on hustle.

Eighth graders Perry and Coluci also applied a lot of pressure as they went the distance several times.

Vivian Chen did a great job as manager and trainer with help from Kathy Bruno. Timing and scoring were handled by Ben Medler and Chris Costa.

Peewee B's Sparkle

An excellent display of hard skating and disciplined position play enabled Andover's Peewee B's to defeat Melrose 3-1 and Methuen 4-0 last weekend. Darrin Cianci opened the scoring against Melrose as he created a breakaway off a line change. Brendan Sheehy upped the lead to 2-0 with an assist from Ritchie Enos at the 6:20 mark of the first period. Melrose came back to score from a scramble in front of the Andover net. The second period belonged to the defense as Ryan Doyle, Danny Kenny, John Brodbine and Doug Batchelder combined with help from the forwards to shut down the Melrose offense. The strong defense continued into the third period. Melrose managed one breakaway, but goalie Phil Smith moved out of his cage to meet the challenge and maintain the one-goal lead. With one second left, Sheehy and Sean Donohue combined to set the final score at 3-1.

Andover improved on their earlier performance by getting Smith his first shut out of the season on Sunday. Andover unleashed a surprising offensive attack and only the superb play of the Methuen goalie kept the score to 4-0. Sheehy opened the scoring in the first period after some alert passing by John Brodbine and Enos. Donohue put Andover up 2-0 in the second period as he slapped home Sheehy's pass from behind the goal. Jason Loomer started the third period by picking up the puck at his blue line and racing down the ice for an unassisted score. Enos scored two goals that were disallowed but, with 47 seconds left and his team shorthanded, he converted a pass from Sheehy for the final goal of the game. Mike Lombard and Mark Pirri contributed solid all-round efforts.

Residents Captain Pike Teams

Several Andover students are on the roster of team captains at The Pike School this fall.

Two of the three co-captains of the girls' varsity soccer team are Nicole Poisson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Poisson of Russet Lane, and Susan Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan of Hidden Road.

Each of the three boys' soccer teams has an Andover student as co-captain. Craig Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angel Garcia of Cheever Circle, is a captain of the varsity team. Daniel Haarmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Haarmann of Wyncrest Circle, is a captain of the J.V. team. Sixth-grader Benjamin Stafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stafford of Bartlet Street, is a captain of the third string team.

Ron Hunt, an infielder who played with various National League teams, holds the record for getting hit by pitched balls.

On The Soccer Fields

By Meg Holmes

Columbus Day weekend gave the in-town teams a chance to rest although some played make-up games. Many traveling teams participated in holiday tournaments. Congratulations to the Andover Fury, the Under 14 Division I team who shut out five opponents to win the North Andover Columbus Day Tournament. They are the first Andover team to win the championship in the seven-year history of this competition.

Under 16 Division I Lightning 3 - Sudbury 3

Lightning fought their Sudbury to a draw in cold, heavy rain. Duncan Harris booted in Mike Henry's pass to open the scoring, but Sudbury responded. Henry kicked in a goal on Scott Shattuck's assist but Sudbury again tied. Henry again put Andover ahead, but Sudbury once more found the equalizer. BOW: Jamie Damon, Mike Costello and Sanjiv Sheel.

Cyclones 2 - Allendale, N.J. 0

Cyclones 1 - Manchester, Conn. 4

Cyclones 2 - Burlington, MA 0

Cyclones 0 - Roxbury, N.J. 0

The Andover Cyclones competed in the Well-sley Invitational Girls Soccer Tournament. They dominated their initial opponent, Allendale, N.J., with Darlene Prochniak and Kerry Lynch scoring on assists from Lisa Allen and Ann Murnane. BOW: Leanna Mills and Joanne Morris.

Their second match against a strong Manchester, Conn., force put Andover on the defensive. Leigh Ann Catanzaro, aided by Allen, denied the shutout. BOW: Kristen Simko, Lynn and goalie Maura Everett.

Despite Sunday's rain, the Cyclones blitzed Burlington 2-0. Karen Ragonese kicked in both goals on assists by Mills and Simko. BOW: Allen and Simko.

The Cyclones sloshed through rain and mud in their final match to a scoreless ending. BOW: The entire team, coaches and parents for not letting the rain cool their spirit.

Under 14 Division I

Terminators 4 - Wallingford, Conn. 1

Terminators 4 Derry, N.H. 0

Terminators 1 - Framingham 1

The Terminators participated in the Nashua Columbus Day "World Cup Tournament." They easily outclassed Wallingford, Conn., with tallies by Reiji Hayes from Brian Jones; two by John Shea from Scott Henry and the final by Keith Selvitelli from Gus Quattlebaum. BOW: Kevin Foltz, Brendan O'Leary, Tim Maracle and Mark Baker.

Andover next shut out Derry, N.H., with scoring from Henry, assisted by Quattlebaum; Shea, assisted by Henry; Henry, assisted by Shea; and Jones, assisted by Shea. BOW: Wayne Mattola, John-Christopher Martin, Maurice Henderson and Andy Novelline, goalie.

Finally, the Terminators battled an equally strong Framingham team to a 1-1 tie. Andover's point came when Shea blasted in Jones' pass. The Terminators did not make the semifinals because they had two goals against them, while Framingham had only one. Nevertheless, the team made an outstanding effort. BOW: Chris Zappala, David Gardner, Mattola and O'Leary.

Fury 1 - Easton 0

Fury 5 - Westfield 0

Fury 1 - Glastonbury, Conn. 0

Fury 3 - Westford 0

Fury 1 - North Andover 0

The Fury won Andover's first championship at the North Andover Columbus Day Tournament and did it without being scored upon in any of their five matches. Lorian Buehler made the winning goal against Easton, while a strong defense led by keeper Holly Parker, Lindsey Sweeney, Kara Milora, Nicole Angelos and Shannon Leary blocked the opposition. Fury blitzed Westfield with two tallies by Amy Heseltine from Milora and Buehler and a hat trick by Angelos, one on Sweeney's assist. Excellent plays were made by Kerry Hagerty, Carmela Sapienza, Tara Ryan and goalie Amy Kenney. The third contest was won on Hagerty's successful penalty kick and outstanding performances by Ari Boutin, Sweeney and Heseltine. Fury controlled the field in the semifinal against Westford with two goals by Heseltine, one set up by Hagerty, and a goal by Sweeney on an indirect. Julie Connor, Marcia Gemmell, Buehler and Ryan made important contributions. Fury faced reigning champs, the North Andover Scarlettes, in the final round. Goalkeeper Parker, aided by Sweeney, Heseltine, Sapienza and Milora, once again formed a defense that could not be penetrated and enabled Angelos to blast a left-footed drive into the upper left corner from 20 feet out to win the championship. A well-earned BOW to players already mentioned as well as Karen Babine, Michelle Morey, Nicole Poisson, Rachel Roberts and coach Carmen Milora.

Scorpions 2 - Kicks 1

Scorpions 1 - Medford 3

The Scorpions came out ahead in the match between two Andover teams. Amy DiAdamo booted in both goals with assists from Angela Chongris and Sasha Alsop. BOW: Emily Kalkstein and Octavia Hollander.

In their third and final match, Medford controlled the first half and, though the Scorpions were able to contain them in the second half, the damage had been done. Tara Griffin did an excellent job goaltending throughout the tournament and Sarah Witham also made an outstanding contribution.

Under 14 Division II

Rockets 0 - Wakefield 2

Stopper Allen Soong and goalie Jeff Breazeale kept up a terrific Rocket defense. BOW: Kevin Barry, Jason Benedict and James Eoodroffe.

Under 12 Division I

Rowdies 3 - Burlington 4

Rowdies 1 - Newfield, N.Y. 9

Rowdies 1 - Dover-Sherborn 1

In their first game in the North Andover Tournament, Burlington made three fast tallies and kept the pressure on, but Andover came back on successful shots by Anthony Correnti from Matt Binda and by Ken Oppenheim. Ed Jurdi responded to another Burlington goal by kicking in Peter Gigliotti's pass, but the Rowdies could not find the equalizer and lost. Andover faced a very tough, experienced New York team on Sunday and Jurdi prevented a shutout. The Rowdies met Dover-Sherborn under horrible weather conditions. Players slipped and slid all over the field. Keeper John Gruener shut out the first half and keeper Alex Orbon made a magnificent save on a penalty kick. A BOW to coaches Peter Binda, Tony Correnti and Steve Tradd and the entire team for making a fine effort in their first tournament competition.

Hoop Clinics Scheduled

Lowell High School varsity basketball coach Charlie Ryan is running his highly-successful "Super Saturday Clinics" at the Riddick Fieldhouse with the first of four sessions scheduled for October 31. Other dates are November 7, 14 and 21.

"We believe it's the only fall basketball camp in New England," said Ryan whose varsity teams have dominated the Merrimack Valley Conference and won two Eastern Mass. Division I North championships in recent years.

"It will give participants a definite edge in regards to making their (school or youth league) team. It's a readiness program that's unmatched in this area."

There are still openings, but enrollment is limited and interested youngster ages 9-17 should apply as early as possible.

Each session will run from 8:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"The school philosophy is to teach the fundamental skills of basketball," Ryan said. "We'll have individual instruction, skill stations, rules interpretations and player valuations."

There will be free t-shirts, a 3-on-3 tournament, a 1-on-1 tournament, a foul shooting contest and a clinic-ending awards ceremony.

Ryan is the director. The staff includes Lowell High School assistants Dennis Canney and Mike Crowley and several college and high school coaches from the area.

Lecturers will include current Celtic Jerry Sichting, former Celtic M.L. Carr, former Lowell High and Texas Christian star Tracy Mitchell, Merrimack College Coach Bert Hammell and Andover High Varsity Coach Tom Ryser.

Registration forms may be obtained by contacting Ryan at 4 Cindy Lane, Andover.

The original "teddy" bear is historically connected with the famous American and popular president, Theodore Roosevelt. During a hunting trip in 1902, Roosevelt refused to shoot a bear cub, not out of sentimentality, but for political reasons. Cartoonist Clifford Berryman featured this incident in one of his drawings for the Washington Post. Inspired by this cartoon, a toy company produced a series of bears with button eyes that was an instant success.

The
ANDOVER TOWNSMAN
"Clearly the most popular newspaper in Andover."*

"85% of adult male and female subscribers to the TOWNSMAN read most EVERY issue."*

"The ANDOVER TOWNSMAN has a clear circulation lead in the Andover area. It has a high quality audience and its readers are more likely to read each of the last four issues. It has the greatest number of individuals who report reading "almost every page" and it has its strongest appeal among upscale households within its market."*

* As reported by "Market Opinion Research" in a survey of the Andover market area, conducted August, 1986.

Planners

until we take a step. The developer has done nothing to address this for three months. They won't be doing it next week."

Board member Susan Stott made a motion to have the town seize the $14,300 for the purpose of completing the drainage work, and the motion passed unanimously.

After the vote, Colyer commented the work is not likely to be completed soon, as the town anticipates further litigation from Kalogianis to prevent the taking of the bond. "They'll haul us into court," he said. "They'll fight, we'll fight." The funds cannot be used to complete the project, he added, while litigation is pending. "The money will be frozen," said Colyer.

The Planning Board also heard two preliminary subdivision proposals this week. The first plan, "Farnham Estates," was presented by survey consultant Frank DiPietro, who was representing John E. Deloury. Deloury has proposed a 7-lot subdivision, with a cul-de-sac, to be located off Westminster Road and Chandler Circle.

In order to construct the subdivision, DiPietro said, the developer must gain permission from Yvon Cormier, owner of Westminster Road, to tie into the sewer system. When the subdivision was first proposed in 1980, Colyer noted, Cormier had not been willing to allow this.

Should Deloury attain the sewer hookup, many other questions must be addressed. Houghton summarized, saying "I see the issues to be the traffic impact on Chandler Circle, many drainage considerations, and the size and configuration of some of the lots."

A seven-lot subdivision on the 30,000 square foot parcel, Houghton commented, "is a few too many lots. This subdivision is being pushed one or two steps beyond what it can hold." He added a "four or five lot subdivision might be better" for the site.

Colyer joined residents of the Chandler Circle area in expressing concern about the amount of excavation being done by Deloury. "A great deal of earth has been removed already" he said. "If you got a good gully-washer, the whole (proposed cul-de-sac) road would be out in Chandler Circle."

Carolyn Robinson, 40 Chandler Circle, said she had counted "18 truck trips down the road, all hauling out gravel." The road, Robinson said, "isn't wide enough to support this."

Colyer asked DiPietro how much more excavation needed to be done, to which the consultant responded, "we're about half finished."

If the subdivision does not go through (the board must vote by November 8), Deloury will use one of the seven lots as his private residence, and the cul-de-sac will be scaled down to a driveway.

The other proposed subdivision, "Apple Hill," involves four one-acre lots located off Lowell St. The steepness of the site necessitates a water easement, said Jim O'Day of Cyr Engineering, consultants for the project. "We propose to discharge runoff into the wetlands on the other side of Lowell St." O'Day told the board. Cyr Engineering plans to lay drain lines under the street, with the runoff eventually landing in Haggett's Pond.

Houghton was concerned about limited street frontage for the site, to which O'Day answered "we may have to reconfigure the lots" to meet minimum frontage requirements. Houghton also speculated the steepness of the property could result in "having water tumble off lawns and across Lowell St." if the land were developed.

The board will render a decision before its next meeting on November 2.

Free Trees

Ten free flowering trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during October.

The foundation will give two White Dogwood, two American Redbud, two European Mountainash, two Washington Hawthorn and two Flowering Crab trees as part of their efforts to improve the quality of life in America by encouraging tree planting.

The six-to-12 inch trees will be sent post-paid at the right time for planting with enclosed planting instructions. The trees are guaranteed to grow or will be replaced free of charge.

Send the membership fee to Flowering Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by October 31.

Over the years, the TOWNSMAN has had a variety of homes—15 Central St., 168 N. Main St. and the site that is now Barcelos Brothers' parking lot—and a variety of editors—including David Young of Andover, current editor of The Boston Globe Sunday Magazine. Its equipment has gone from manual typewriters to computers, from artists' pens to 35-millimeter cameras.

But its aim hasn't strayed far from the first publisher's, who wrote an editorial on another TOWNSMAN landmark—its 25th anniversary in 1912.

"...underneath the whole of it, it has been the sole aim and purpose of the publishers of the TOWNSMAN to make it of service to the entire community."

Here's to another hundred.
Happy birthday, Andover TOWNSMAN.

Collaborative School

tuted in the Andover schools. "The 'school culture' program is directed mainly at teachers," Richards said. "We want to focus this more on the student body, and make it a reciprocal thing."

Students at the Collaborative School will be encouraged to "discover, and to attain, (their) individual potential," said the preliminary report. Students should learn to "function completely today, and in the society of the future."

Enrollment plans currently call for 1,200 students, with 400 in grades K-2, 400 grades 3-5, and 400 in grades 6-8. A pupil-teacher ratio of 20:1 is being planned. The projected cost per student is $5,952, but Richards said with expected state aid, this figure would be lowered to $2638, 32 percent less than the current per pupil expenditure in Andover and 19 percent less than in Lawrence.

Students and teachers will be selected from a pool of volunteers, with Lawrence enrollments subject to affirmative action laws. Some type of "selection formula" will likely be used over time, Richards acknowledged, to allow "the fairest means possible" of selecting students from the volunteer group. "We want a broad cross-section" of children for the school, he explained.

Criteria for enrollment, the Project's report states, is based on "the student's willingness to try," and on "expressed parent/student interest." Andover would supply 400 students, and 800 students would come from Lawrence.

The Project Director is also enthused about plans by the state Department of Education to use the Collaborative School for innovative teacher development programs. Among the initiatives being discussed, said Richards, is a program in which teachers with bachelor's degrees would work toward their Master's by spending time at the Collaborative School learning teaching methods from more experienced educators.

Instructors from both communities would teach at the proposed Collaborative School. The teachers would be rotated back into their respective school systems every 2-3 years so other teachers may benefit from the available staff development programs at the regional facility.

Four functions exist for the proposed staff development training program, according to the report. The training facility at the Collaborative School should be affiliated with at least one college or university, the program should be used to train new teachers as well as re-train veteran teachers and the training should be individualized to meet teachers' professional needs and goals. In addition, training would be an ongoing, daily part of the Collaborative School.

Designers Observe Anniversary

Reynolds and Markham, interior designers, at 90 Main St., on the second floor, are currently observing the first anniversary of their Andover establishment.

The shop reflects a personalized style of two women, one a decorative painter and the other an interior decorator. The combination of the two is responsible for the decor of the shop. Custom-painted finishes and fine home furnishings create a background of their selectively-chosen merchandise.

The items range from country handcrafts to fine Herend china. French paisley fabrics are sold by the yard, needlepoint pillows line the sofa and animal garden ornaments peek out from every corner. French lamps, Australian scented drawer liner paper, ceramic cookware from Austria, English wall brackets and flower holders add a continental flavor to the collection.

Wendy Reynolds and Marilyn Markham are responsible for Reynolds and Markham.

Mrs. Reynolds, who owns the eight-year-old design firm Cheerer House, is a veteran of five showhouses, the most recent the 1987 Junior League Showhouse where she designed the kitchen. Her work has been published several times in national magazines and she has submitted design work for the publication of a new book on decorating. "Everything is going quite well with my design business and the shop has added a new dimension," she says.

Mrs. Markham has a list of credits to her name as well. She travels all over the East Coast as a consultant and painter. Her talent with color, design and faux finishes allows her to work with many decorators. Her designs are always developed with the client in mind. Commissions have ranged from private homes to offices and faux finish accents for restaurants.

Markham has been published in several national publications and appeared on television. Most recently the Boston Herald did a three-page article on her diversity of style which is on display in the shop.

America's first extensive hard-surface road was built in Pennsylvania. Completed in 1795, it was known as the Lancaster Turnpike and ran 62 miles.

Waste Bill Would Assist

By Virginia H. Cole

Recycling can be encouraged and helped financially by the passage of the Massachusetts Solid Waste Bill.

We have heard much in the press and on TV about this bill. It was passed by the House last spring, then to the Senate and Senator Patricia McGovern's Ways and Means Committee this fall. It was reported out of that committee favorably, but then amended on the floor to such an extent that it is back in the Ways and Means Committee. Senate Bill 1913 needs our support and letters to our senators will help.

If you live in Andover precincts 1-5, write to: Patricia McGovern, Room 212, State House, Boston, Mass. 02133.

If you live in Andover precincts 6-8, write to Robert Buell, Room 321, State House, Boston, Mass. 02133.

Recycling is only a part of this bill. It deals with disposal sites, their locations and the closing of land fills, incinerators and what they will be allowed to burn and what gases will escape into the atmosphere and where the residue (ash) will be buried.

The money which the House put in the bill and which was deleted by the Senate needs to be restored. Passage of this bill could mean an increase in the tonnage of recyclables collected for Andover and a savings in the amount paid to transport and dump trash in North Andover.

Diabetes

Bon Secour Hospital's Community Diabetes Education program, a four-week series beginning October 15 at Bon Secours Hospital, 70 East St., Methuen, from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., is designed to broaden and enhance the diabetic's knowledge of the disease. Providing up-to-date information and easy access to the referral network at the hospital, including the nutrition center and the cardiac rehabilitation program, the series encourages preventive home care and teaches diabetics how to handle emergencies. A fee is charged.

According to U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics estimates, the job classification with the most openings likely between now and 2000 is that of computer service technician.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Proprietor Tina LaCreta and client.

Happy Tails: Professional Dog & Cat Grooming

Come on Fido! Your looking a little shaggy and Tabby, your scratching more than usual. Into the car, we're going to Happy Tails!

Yes, bring them to Tina LaCreta's "Happy Tails" for professional dog and cat grooming, located at 7 Lupine Rd., Andover. This may be Tina's first business venture, however she has apprenticed in three different animal grooming centers and a kennel in the Tewksbury area. "I love animals and want to work with them, so I thought I'd try it on my own", said Tina.

When you bring Fido in, he'll be bathed and should he have any particular skin problems, Tina will use a special shampoo to suit the condition. He will then be brushed, blow dried, scissored, nails clipped, and will have his ears cleaned. Bring him in the morning - pick him up, mid-afternoon. Guaranteed, he'll look like a new dog!

"Happy Tails" emphasizes that brushing is essential for a healthy, glowing coat for it eliminates mats and tangles, removes dead hair, dirt and burrs, and distributes the natural oils, producing a healthy skin tone.

Make sure you use a quality brush containing short bent wires mounted in a firm rubber backing. Another essential piece of equipment is a solid metal comb with a combination of coarse and medium teeth.

Tina suggests that you groom your dog or cat on a bench or table, not only to bring the animal to a comfortable working height for you, but to teach Fido or Tabby that grooming is something special.

Visit "Happy Tails" today - Tina looks forward to showing you around her new business and will gladly answer any of your questions. "Happy Tails" is open Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call 475-6860 for further information or to set up an appointment.

Physical Impairments Can Be Overcome For Telephones

When the lamp in her den flashes on and off, Ida knows she has a phone call.

Joan says she feels good about knowing she can get emergency medical help without even dialing her phone.

Simply blowing into a plastic tube puts Karen in touch with the world.

And hearing every word on a call despite a noisy background is critical to Kevin who conducts much of his business on public phones.

Not exactly conventional ways of using the telephone, but to some, the simplest tasks most take for granted can be difficult or even impossible.

Not necessarily impossible, say the folks at AT&T's National Special Needs

Center in New Jersey, pointing to the latest catalog of equipment featuring special communications applications for customers with hearing, speech, motion or vision impairments.

In the new brochure, which features Ida, Kevin and others, "we're trying to illustrate just how manageable the telephone can be for people who have impairments involving hearing, speech, motion or vision," says manager Virginia Pocock.

"Helping people with special communications needs is not something new for AT&T," she adds. "When Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone back in 1876, he was actually searching for a device to aid hearing-impaired persons. And today through our national center, we're continuing that commitment to serve those with special communications needs in a way that is unique and personal."

Pocock says the catalog contains such items as TDDs (Telecommunication Devices for the Deaf), a portable telephone amplifier which fits securely to most phones, handsets with volume controls and the PockeTalker, a listening device that can amplify without sacrificing privacy or disturbing others.

Also, the emergency call system which, at the push of a button, automatically dials a preprogrammed number to send a distress message, the electronic artificial larynx unit, a hand-held speaking aid for people who have lost the use of their larynx, and the Telecaption II Decoder which displays closed captions as text on a TV screen and will show full-screen text channels.

The sun's power in watts could run 176 billion frost-free refrigerators.

The skin of an average adult man covers an area of about 20 feet; that of an average woman about 17½ square feet.

The skin is the largest organ of the body, accounting for about 16 percent of total weight.

Pneumonia, Flu Clinics Scheduled

The Andover Board of Health will sponsor influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia clinics again this fall as part of an overall campaign to reduce the incidence and prevalence of these diseases. It is anticipated that there will be a moderately severe outbreak of influenza in Massachusetts this winter. Pneumococcal pneumonia is caused by a bacteria and is one of the many forms of bacterial pneumonia to which humans are susceptible. Re-vaccination or booster for pneumonia is not required.

Vaccinations are indicated for persons in the senior age group and/or person persons with certain chronic conditions or diseases. The shots will be administered on Thursday, Oct. 22, at the Doherty Junior High School cafeteria from 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Free parking will be available in the back and side parking lots. Pre-registration is required for the pneumonia vaccine only and there will be a $5 charge. Flu shots are free and no pre-registration is required. To pre-register for the pneumonia shot or for further information, call the Town Public Health Nurse at 470-3800, Ext. 255. Any questions regarding the clinical aspects of this vaccine or your personal medical needs should be directed to your personal physician. Transportation is available by calling the Weebus at a cost of 35 cents each way.

Fair Closes

The 1987 Topsfield Fair closed Monday (Columbus Day) with a total attendance figure of 406,500 despite two rainy Sundays and threatening forecasts during the week.

Al Craig, gen. mgr. of the Fair, said Tuesday he was well pleased with the 10-day exposition and that he enjoyed every bit of his first year at the helm of America's oldest, continuous county fair. He also said he was very impressed with the work of the 400-500 volunteer workers who helped make everything fall into place.

Some of the highlights which helped swell the patronage included: The free grandstand entertainment featuring Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers and Tammy Wynette; the annual Draft horse show, which is the biggest in the East; the appearance of the Budweiser Clydesdales, and the World Pumpkin Weighoff in which a Topsfield Fair exhibitor won the world's largest pumpkin International competition; the annual "Mrs. Essex County Contest; a multitude of agricultural and livestock exhibits and competition.

The dates for the 1988 Fair are Oct. 1 through Oct. 10.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

Schruender Real Estate

LOW STRESS REAL ESTATE SALES

Whether you're buying or selling, making a move gets high marks on the stress scale. Not only are huge amounts of money involved, but there is a lot that can, and sometimes does, go wrong.

A good Realtor will work hard to minimize the stress in your move. We monitor the progress of our client's loan application and make sure that the paperwork is being properly handled by the settlement attorneys. We remind sellers about any repairs that are to be made before closing. We also try to help both parties coordinate the settlement and their moves to give the sellers time to clear out before the buyer's moving van arrives. We will explain how to ensure a smooth transition with utility companies to make sure final meter readings have been arranged by the sellers and new accounts have been set up for the buyers. With our help, you can be prepared, and this will help to eliminate those little goof-ups and make your settlement easy and stressless.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Realty USA / Schruender Real Estate. Call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

Safety Tips

Another alert from the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children's prevention campaign:

Children:

Go out with a buddy.
Don't go inside strangers' houses.

Discard unwrapped goodies.

Use a flashlight after dark.

If costumed, wear something bright colored (white preferred).

Tell your parents what your "route" will be.

Adults:

Accompany children under 12.

Provide a house party instead of "Trick or Treat."

Use special care, if driving.

Give out individually wrapped goodies.

Try to be at home. Dark houses invite trouble.

Light up front of house (e.g. porch lights).

In Concert

HIRING A HOUSE INSPECTOR

Naturally you will carefully inspect any home you intend to purchase as best you can. However, if you are not a building expert and you have some serious questions about the house's structure or systems, it makes sense to hire an independent house inspector to do a professional job. If this is your case, here are a few pointers.

Home inspectors are supposed to work FOR the buyer. The real estate agent is not the inspection expert and he or she will be the first to tell you. Hire a house inspector who is totally impartial. That means someone who simply inspects the house and submits the findings but does nothing whatsoever to correct any fault he may find. In that way, the inspector will not be motivated to "discover" a lot of extra faults as a means toward finding repair work.

The inspector should be knowledgeable enough to give approximate costs of repairs as a guide so the client can make an informed decision on the house.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in on THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Fenchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

CLEARWATER BEACH FLORIDA FOUR UNIT CONDOMINIUM

Five years ago my family and I retired to Clearwater, Florida. After 15 years in the Real Estate business in Tewksbury and the Andover area, we are now living in Clearwater but have always dreamed of owning a weekend retreat on the beach. The problem was that all the luxury units were in highrises with too many rules and high condo fees. I have spent 5 years looking for a place where I could build my own building. Finally, after extensive research I bought 2 homes from an estate directly on Clearwater Beach abutting the largest hotel on the West Coast of Florida, Holiday Inn, Surfside. Unbelievably, just one block from restaurants, banks and grocery stores. While being directly on the West Coast's finest beach I demolished the home and now have under construction a four-unit building consisting of 4 large 3 bedroom, 3 bath units with over 30 ft. great rooms facing the gulf. I am going to keep 2 units for myself and sell 2 units. We enjoy people from New England, so before we put them on the Florida market, we are offering them to the people from the Tewksbury and Andover area. We are selling these top quality condos for $325,000 each. If you have any questions, please call me collect.

The Key to Results in Real Estate

*TheANDOVER TOWNSMAN*Police Say Increase In Vandalism
May Be Growing Trend In Town

By Lewis C. Howe

Fourteen acts of vandalism were reported to the Andover police this week, part of what police officials acknowledge is a growing trend among local youths.

"These are not isolated cases," said Lt. Richard Enos of the Andover Police Department. "It's the same group in certain areas, but it's not the same kids all over town."

On Saturday, October 3, three residents of Oriole Drive reported vandalism to their lawns. The next day, a wave of destruction swept Regis Road. While no arrests have been made for any recent vandalism in Andover, Enos said "word gets around...we do have suspects."

The situation is not as severe as the wave of destructive behavior that afflicted Andover a few years back, Enos remarked. "Four or five years ago, we had some weekends when there would be 35-40 acts of vandalism reported" he recalled.

Teenagers participate in these activities, the police lieutenant said, because "they think it's a lark. They don't realize how serious a crime it is." Many acts of vandalism constitute felonies, he noted.

While no actual increases in manpower are being made by the police, Enos stated the department is "taking action" to discourage the malicious acts. But, he acknowledged, arrests are not always easy to make because of the nature of the crime.

"These aren't neighborhood kids," Enos explained, saying troublemakers will often travel to randomly-selected feels that way," the chairman stated, "they had better say it to my face. I will not spend time away from my family, nor ask any other board member to spend time away from theirs, to subject themselves to such accusations or innuendoes."

Salazar could not be reached at her home for comment.

Houghton called the League's actions either "harassment" or "complete non-comprehension" of issues. "As long as I have been on this board," he said, "it has conducted its business in an open manner, and has repeatedly requested public participation."

In concluding his remarks, Houghton areas, commit acts of destruction, and move on. Damage is often done to motor vehicles or yards, but residents' mailboxes have been getting their share of unwanted attention of late. "Mailboxes are real big among these kids," Enos quipped, adding the plundering of postal portals is seen as a sort of "game" by vandals.

Part of the vandalism problem may be that property destruction is not widely viewed as a "serious" crime, but police said a "concentrated effort" is being made to prevent further destruction, and vandals who are arrested will be prosecuted in a court of law.

commented "I would suggest that the time and energy being expended (by the League) looking for villains and conspiracy would be better spent in coming forth with some recommendations and a course of action that can benefit Andover."

Chamber
Praises
Police

The Andover Chamber of Commerce has expressed appreciation to the Andover police department for its patrolling of the downtown business district.

In a letter to Police Chief James Johnson, Chamber President Andrew Caffrey, Jr. stated: "On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce I want to take this opportunity to thank you and members of the department for the outstanding service performed on behalf of the merchants in the downtown area. You and your department are to be commended."

Andrew Johnson was the only ex-President to be elected to the United States Senate.
